Bad Fire Across River Calls Northfield Dept. Many Animals Perish

The skies of Northfield visibility offered a spectacular vista last Saturday evening when a disastrous fire on the Fairfield Farm, just above the C. V. R. R. underpass, totally destroyed the large substantial barn and its contents including forty sheep, two cows and two horses.

The roaring flames were seen from this side of the river long before the alarm of fire was sounded but to which both the Brattleboro and Northfield apparatus and firemen responded. The Northfield company was first on the scene and made every effort to save the residence about fifty feet away from the barn and succeeded inasmuch as the wind was away from the house.

The farm is owned by Mrs. Helen Hughes McKay of Panama, who is now on a visit there. It is operated by Mr. and Mrs. Gray but Mr. Gray was away at the time. Also in the house was William Fairfield, an uncle of Mrs. Gray.

About 6.30 o'clock, Loring Cowles, a neighbor, saw flames shooting through the barn roof. As he ran toward the place he met Mrs. Gray on her way to telephone an alarm. Efforts were made by neighbors to release the live stock but the heat was already too intense. The fire is of undetermined origin but State's Attorney E. W. Gibson, Jr., of Brattleboro is conducting an investigation as to the cause of the fire, as some people believe the barn blaze was incendiary.

When the flames were first noticed the inside of the barn was a roaring furnace, and it was impossible to save the live stock or any of the farm equipment in the barn.

The Selectmen of Vernon called the Brattleboro fire department and the Seagrave pump and three carloads of firemen were sent to the scene. Furniture was carried from the house while it was in danger but was replaced after the barn blaze had died down.

With the firemen from Northfield under direction of Willis Parker both pieces of fire apparatus played water from booster pump on the blaze, water being carried to the pumps from a watering trough across the road and from the Connecticut River by a bucket brigade.

The barn was 51 by 103 feet in dimensions, and was substantially built on a granite foundation. It was two stories tall and stood above a well-constructed basement.

The fire was spectacular and attracted scores of motorists from Brattleboro, Northfield, Hinsdale, and many other nearby places.

The loss is estimated at $8,000. The property was insured through the Brattleboro offices of George M. Clay and Arthur L. Maynard. The real estate was owned by Mrs. Helen (Hughes) McKay of Panama, and the personal property by William C. Fairfield.

Last week a chimney fire in the farmhouse was extinguished without damage by the Northfield Fire Department.

An investigation of the Fairfield fire is now under way by Vermont authorities and it is hoped that it will include many fires which took place in the last two years or so many of which were under peculiar circumstances. The Herald urged that something be done a year ago in these numerous fires on the west side of the river and now it is hoped that all citizens when questioned by the authorities will be ready to give whatever knowledge they have of any peculiar circumstances or conditions which existed at the time of the fires.

Was Oldest Mason In New Hampshire

Recently The Herald chronicled the death of Mr. Joseph S. Doolittle who was a native of Winchester and was buried there. A Masonic bulletin has the following concerning him.

"Joseph S. Doolittle, aged ninety-seven, said to be the oldest Mason in New Hampshire, died recently at Portsmouth, N. H., at the home of his daughter-in-law.

Mr. Doolittle was a well known instructor or patriot for the Grand Army of the Republic and oldest member of St. Andrew's Lodge No. 56, A. F. & A. M., of Portsmouth, N. H. His grandfather Dr. John Hazelton, served in the Revolutionary War as an assistant surgeon and was with Washington at Valley Forge. Mr. Doolittle served three years in the 14th New Hampshire Volunteer Regiment during the Civil War and was wounded in the battle of Winchester, Va.

Retaining a remarkable memory, he frequented schools and public meetings where he spoke and recited on patriotic subjects. In July 1931, he was on the welcoming program of the historic frigate Constitution at the Portsmouth Navy Yard when that vessel set sail on her extensive trip to the various ports of the United States."

To A Printer

On Tuesday January 17, 1933, was the two hundred twenty seventh anniversary of the birth of "The Amazing Benjamin Franklin," one of the most versatile men who ever lived and one of the greatest figures in American history.

As a printer and journalist he founded a heritage that has been of inestimable pride and inspiration to those callings. As a scientist and inventor he not only harnessed the lightning, but made other important discoveries and contributions to research. Wise and effective beyond precedent in the field of diplomacy, he was almost equally distinguished as a legislator and counsellor in his country's service. His mind was likened to that of Leibnitz, and he was acclaimed by Frederick the Great, Voltaire and Mirabeau. Thomas Paine, who was not much given to reverence or admiration, looked up to him with affection and respect. But great as were his other gifts and achievements, it has been the qualities of sage and philosopher which have most securely enshined him in the hearts of his countrymen.

The concert this week Thursday evening at the Greenfield High School auditorium by the Greenfield Woman's Club rendered by the noted violinist Efrem Zimbalist was a splendid success. The program was highly appreciated and there was a large attendance. In the audience was noted many from Northfield, from the Seminary faculty and from Mount Hermon.

Zimbalist was accompanied by Theodore Sidenberg at the piano. The program, varied and attractive, opened with the Chaconne, a graceful slow dance of Spanish origin, by the Italian Vitali. The violin concerto, by Mendelssohn, followed. Then followed the following numbers:

Siegfried Paraphrase

Wagner-Wilhelmi
Valse Caprice Saint-Saens-Ysaye
L'auette Glinka-Auer
Spinning Song Popper-Auer
Nigun Szymonowski

The whole program was a rare treat indeed to those who attended.

Appointed Instructors In Red Cross Work

From the headquarters of the American Red Cross in Washington comes the announcement that several persons in Franklin County have been appointed to act as instructors in Red Cross work. Among those appointed to instruct in first aid are several residents of Greenfield and among those to instruct upon matters of life saving are William L. Wild of Mount Hermon School and Miss Jean A. Allen of Northfield Seminary.

Re-appointed Deputy Grand Master Masons

Rt. Wor. Donald E. Mathewson of Millers Falls has been re-appointed District Deputy Grand Master for the 18th Masonic District. The District includes Republican Lodge at Greenfield, Harmony Lodge at Northfield, Mountain Lodge at Shelburne Falls, Morning Sun Lodge at Conway, Ray State Lodge at Montague, Mechanics Lodge at Turner's Falls and Mt. Sugar Loaf Lodge at South Deerfield.

Pomona Grange Installs Officers At Greenfield

Raymond F. Cowan of Greenfield was installed master of the Connecticut Valley Pomona Grange last Friday afternoon at the Grange hall in Greenfield.

The installation ceremony featured the all-day meeting which was attended by about 100 members. Guiding Star Grange served dinner.

The greetings of the Greenfield Grange were extended by George D. Haskins and the response was made by William Furrington of Bernardston. The business meeting in the morning was presided over by Albert E. Clark of Montague. His resignation was given briefly in the following words: "Having passed the ordinary age of retirement I wish to give up my pastorate at the end of February. After a rest of some weeks in the South, we want to retire to our home in Northfield. If on our return I can be of any service to this Church which we have learned to love, and which has given us such splendid loyalty for the past four years and more, I shall be glad."

Officers were installed by Worthy Deputy Charles Shepard as installing marshal. Mrs. Thelma Cowan was emblem bearer; Mrs. Maude Dean, regalia bearer; Mrs. Grove Deming of Mount Hermon, soloist; Mrs. Virginia Graves, pianist.

These officers were installed: Raymond F. Cowan, master; Ray Franklin, Bernardston, overseer; Mrs. Maude Barnard, steward; Mrs. C. Reid, steward; Carroll Miller, Northfield, assistant steward; Mrs. Mac Fuchs, Millers Falls, Chaplain; Mrs. R. N. Hayden, Montague, secretary; Frank D. Jones of Riverside, treasurer; Gilbert Ross, Montague, gatekeeper; Mrs. Gladys Pierce, Montague, Ceres; Hazel De Wolfe, Montague, Pomona; Miss Doris Woodard, Bernardston, Flora; Mrs. Gertrude Gibson, Northfield, lady assistant steward; Albert E. Clark, Montague, executive committee for three years. The appointed officers were, Mrs. Nedie State of Bernardston, assistant lecturer; Mrs. Virginia Graves, Montague, pianist.

"Shavings"

The Play Goes On

The Fortnightly Club through its committee are making great preparations for the production of their play at Town Hall on Friday February 3rd and a local cast is busy in preparation of the event "Shavings" by Joe Lincoln is a wonderful story.

Perhaps no more lovable character has ever been presented to the public than Jed Winslow, who is known as "Shavings." Here is a man whose life has been one of self denial and service to others.

Having been forced to abandon all hope of a college education and a possible career, he turns to making windmills and toys. He becomes a genial philosopher and lover of mankind.

Into his life comes a fascinating widow and Jed begins to sense the feeling of love, only to be thwarted by the return of the widow's former sweetheart.

Defeated but not dismayed, Jed proceeds on his way through life, making toys for children and giving comfort to the afflicted.

Such is the man who will be revealed when you see and hear the play at Town Hall. Make a memo of the date and be there.

Potts In Race For Orange Town Clerk

Mr. Louis M. Potts of Orange wants the job as Town Clerk and started nomination papers there. He has an excellent background for his work and is well known to many in Northfield as he participated in the recent campaign to raise $3,000,000 for the Northfield Schools and was in charge of the New York office.

In 1913 he served as official stenographer at the Republican headquarters in New York City when John P. Mitchell, was elected mayor. Since then he has been a stenographer in the treasurer's office of the Union Pacific Railroad; private secretary to Rev. Dr. William Chapman, the evangelist, with whom he traveled all over the country; private secretary to Rev. Dr. Ford C. Ottman, business head of the national service commission of the Presbyterian Church; an associate of Rev. William H. Foukous general secretary of the New Era movement of the Presbyterian Church.

It is the belief of Mr. Potts' friends that he is well qualified by training, experience and personality to serve the town as clerk.

Former Northfield Boy Takes Naval Training

Everett Danforth, former Northfield boy and formerly with the Northfield Printing Co., is now at the Naval Training Station at Newport, R. I., as a "raw recruit" undergoing his preparation and training for service in the employ of "Uncle Sam." He writes a friendly letter to the Printing Company, in appreciation of his career while employed and extends his greetings to all friends to "Bill" and "John" and "Ludy." He is enjoying his experiences and finds it much to his liking. His brother is with him having enlisted at the same time. He says he would appreciate The Herald if a copy is sent him.

Real Estate Transfers

Papers have been filed in the registry of deeds indicating Charles S. Aldrich of Northfield has transferred to William H. Summers of Northfield, a tract of standing timber on his land located on the western side of the Gill-Vernon highway.

Clergyman Retires From His Pastorate To Northfield Home

Announcement was made to The Herald Tuesday from Holyoke that Rev. Dr. Elliott W. Brown, Pastor of the First Congregational Church of that city since 1928 had resigned effective in February and would return for permanent residence to his home on Main Street in Northfield. His resignation was given briefly in the following words: "Having passed the ordinary age of retirement I wish to give up my pastorate at the end of February. After a rest of some weeks in the South, we want to retire to our home in Northfield. If on our return I can be of any service to this Church which we have learned to love, and which has given us such splendid loyalty for the past four years and more, I shall be glad."

Dr. Brown who had been a Pastor in New York City retired to Northfield many years ago but in 1928 supplied the pulpit of the First Church of Holyoke after the resignation of Rev. Charles Thorp for a time and was then invited to become its Pastor which although a surprise he accepted. Northfield is glad to have Dr. Brown and his wife back again as permanent residents. They plan to go by automobile to Miami and other points in Florida leaving Northfield about the 28th of February, and will probably return early in May.

Northfield Gets $353 From Dog Licenses

Checks totalling $6,759.78, reimbursing Franklin County towns for dog licenses issued in 1932, have been mailed by County Treasurer William J. Newcomb, the various sums being the totals after dog damages and costs had been deducted from the entire sum collected.

Due to a change in the state law governing the issuance of dog licenses, all the towns in the county will be obliged to use identical forms this year, instead of each community preparing and issuing its own blanks as in the past.

The new law, Chapter 289 of the acts of 1932, amends certain sections of chapter 140 of the General Laws in that towns and cities, outside of Suffolk County, will be obliged to use a form of license prescribed by the state director of accounts upon a blank which will be furnished by the county in which the town or city is located except in Suffolk county.

The dog license returns to the various towns are as follows:

Local Game Assn. Elects Their Officers

Northfield Fish and Game Association held its annual meeting in Grange Hall Monday evening January 16th and the following officers were elected for 1933: G. Holton, President; Dr. R. G. Holton, Vice President; Frank W. Anderson, Secretary; James Dale, Treasurer. During the past year the Northfield Fish and Game Association have stocked the brooks with 7,100 Trout which were received from the Montague Hatchery, liberated 154 White Rabbits which were received from the State, and are wintering a shipment of Pheasants which are to be liberated in the Spring.

The Post Office Department has ordered the Bureau of Engraving and Printing to prepare dies for a three-cent postage stamp in memory of Calvin Coolidge.

The stamp, it is learned, probably will be black and similar to the one issued when President Harding died. It is expected like the William Penn stamp issued last October, to have no border. Citizens Caucus

A few ardent supporters of the Citizens Caucus met in Town Hall Wednesday evening and nominated the following for office: — Town Clerk, Mrs. H. M. Haskell, Treasurer, L. R. Alexander, Selectman, Herman Fisher (with two vacancies); Assessor J. L. Hammond, Tax Collector L. R. Alexander, School Committee Shirley H. Kehl, Library Trustees, F. L. Duley and Christianson, C. Northfield's Audit By State Examiner Reported Good

The accounts of the Town of Northfield were found to be in excellent condition by the accountants from the State who made their annual examination early this month. The audit was for the year ending December 31st and the findings were that we are in excellent financial condition. A copy of the report has been sent to the Selectmen and addressed to Mr. Frank H. Montague as Chairman.

Chief Accountant Edward H. Fenton says that the balance sheet "shows that the town is in an excellent financial condition." He says further that the "work of all departments has been

EDITORIAL

In the passing of Calvin Coolidge a real sorrow has found its way to our Northfield citizens, none other than our good friend and Town Accountant Mr. Charles S. Warner. It was Coolidge who served in Mr. Warner as a member of the Massachusetts Legislature and it was Mr. Warner who served as an Elector of the State in the Presidential campaign which chose and cast their votes for Coolidge as President. It is with a feeling of deep sympathy that Mr. Warner and many others of our citizens realize in the passing of our good friend Calvin Coolidge.

Now that so much talk is prevalent as to the merits and demerits of branch banking it is well to note that the agitation for branch banking and elimination of a large proportion of the small and independently owned banks in the United States overlooks a fundamental American principle—local government. That is the great problem of this era—the preservation of local traditions and local ownership combined with the expansion of unified control made necessary by the complexities and inter-dependence of present-day civilization.

Our way out will lie in reformation and strengthening of the Federal Reserve System, combined with the retention of locally owned and operated banks.

The small, locally owned bank is likely to be stronger than a branch if the proper general control by state and nation is exercised and the local banker knows his own community.

The Massachusetts State Association of Selectmen at their recent meeting in Boston went on record as favoring the repeal of the Old Age Assistance Law.

Debate brought out that the chief reasons against the law are that the revenues really come from public welfare departments and therefore are no relief to the towns, and that many people throughout the state who could be supported by relatives without undue hardship are obtaining payments under the law that towns should not be required to make. Taxpayers are also beginning to rebel against the large taxes for welfare purposes although money is needed to support the poor and unemployed.

In the passing of Calvin Coolidge the press, through its editorials, have been paying splendid tributes to his memory—what shall we say—perhaps the words of that prayer at his funeral uttered by the pastor of Edwards Church could be our best expression of appreciation and showing of sympathy:

"It is not alone a grief-stricken nation which bows before Thee." "It is a thankful nation as well. We thank Thee for the life of him whose death we now mourn. We thank Thee for what his life has meant to the country and the world. We thank Thee for the exemplary devotion which he showed in the discharge of all his public duties. We thank Thee for the faithfulness for which he served his town. We thank Thee for the measure of dedication which he brought to the service of the Commonwealth. And above all do we thank Thee for the consecration with which he served his country in the highest office within the gift of the people. He had kept the faith which the people placed in him. May we not begrudge him whose loss we shall deeply mourn the rest with Thee which he has so richly deserved knowing that by Thy mercy and grace he finished his course having kept the faith."

Poet's Corner

A LOVER'S FAREWELL

When greater minds or fairer forms than mine
Shall come and find you willing and most sweet,
Remember me, who once laid at your feet

Laurels of praise and perfumed columbine
Or tender dreaming; quaffed your beauty's wine
And broke the bread of strength; your love complete.

Remember me, who in your sore defeat
Caused you anew to live; your darkness made divine
With light and joy while you in me found rest.

That grace your coming lover shall adore
For me you did create in ecstasy; That rapture that for him shall be new born

Shall be from what is mine eternally.
And now, good-bye! When sorrows on you fall
Guard well your heart, lest it on me shall call!

CALVIN COOLIDGE

The glorious Flag of our Nation
Hangs at half staff today,
For we one and all are mourning
Our Friend who has gone away.

He came from the granite hillside,
And quietly entered our State,
Where he took up the task of living,
Traveling the path of fate.

Onward and ever upward,
With courage that never failed,
And never a meaningless gesture
The Ship of our State he sailed.

The Eyes of our Nation saw him,
And called him to higher tasks,
When it needed a genuine Leader
To tear the Spoilers Masks.

His stalwart Christian manhood
Inspired our whole broad land,
With faith in God and Country
As he ruled with a steady hand.

At his side a noble woman,
Never failing any test,
Always gracious, always loyal,
Helping him to do his best.

He has slipped across the border,
In his usual quiet way,
Leaving millions heavy hearted,
Needing him from day to day.

But his life's an inspiration
To be kind and good and true,
And to never be unfaithful
In the work we have to do.

THE PASSING OF CALVIN COOLIDGE

Little did they think or know the truth,
Those forefathers who went their simple ways.

Down thru' the years they passed their strength of soul,
Gathered from the mighty hills each day.

They wrought the rocky fields with sweat and toil,
Absorbed the ways of nature from their tasks.

Nor dreamed the whole great world would mourn
That one who bore their name from life had passed.

We too should profit by their honest lives,
In these unsettled times of change and woe.

His simple soul remained unchanged, unspoiled,
Thru all official pomp and earthly show.

Work!
Thank God for the pride of it,
For the beautiful, conquering tide of it.

Sweeping the life in its furious flood,
Thrilling the arteries, cleansing the blood,

Mastering stupor and dull despair,
Moving the dreamer to do and dare.

Oh, what is so good as the urge of it,
Something of his granite rocks and hills.

Like a remembered chord of music strong and sweet
Though his heart and voice remain forever still.

THE PILGRIMAGE OF DREAMS

When on Nocturna's dusky brow
Her starred tiara gleams,
I follow by a path I know
The pilgrimage of dreams!

When lightly on the lonely lake
Descend the moon's pale beams,
I quit the day-time world to make
The pilgrimage of dreams!

When vapors rise in goblin guise
From little spring-barn streams,
I tread with partly-clouded eyes
The pilgrimage of dreams!

In sleep our thoughts assume a charm
Unknown to daylight themes;
And men may go without alarm
The pilgrimage of dreams.

An echo as of Paradise
Is sounding in mine ears;
God's glory blazes in the skies
And on the earth appears.

His angels watch with folded wings
Above the starlit streams;
Nor hate moles nor malice stings
The pilgrimage of dreams!

When peace is mirrored on the sky
And earth no longer tempts
With daily discord then I try
The pilgrimage of dreams.

The folded flowers their scents exhale,
The startled night-hawk screams
As hand in hand with night I share
The pilgrimage of dreams.

When peace is mirrored on the sky
And earth no longer tempts
With daily discord then I try
The pilgrimage of dreams.

The world, so turbulent at noon,
One vast mausoleum seems
As filled with quietude I make
The pilgrimage of dreams!

It's filmy web upon the grass
The tollous spider weaves;
And mutely the descending dew
Lies lightly on the leaves.

To the entreaties of the mind
The pliant pines respond;
The clouds to the horizon sail
And lose themselves beyond.

From heart and brain have passed again
All sordid noon-day schemes;
Free as a spirit I pursue
The pilgrimage of dreams!

O LOVE THAT WILT NOT LET ME GO

O love that wilt not let me go,
I rest my weary soul in thee;
I give thee back the life I owe,
That in thine ocean depths it flows,
May richer, fuller be.

O light that followest all my way,
I yield by flickering torch to thee;
My heart restores its borrowed ray,
That in the sunshine's blaze it day,
May brighter, fairer be.

O joy that speakest me through pain,
I cannot close my heart to thee;
I trace the rainbow through the rain,
And feel the promise is not vain,
That morn shall tearless be.

O cross that liftest up my head,
To heed the calling deep.
Though wet nor blow nor space I fear,
I dare not ask to fly from thee;
Life that shall endless be.

Editors Note:—
The above hymn was composed by George Matheson and Albert L. Peace, 1882-1885, and was the favorite hymn of the late Calvin Coolidge and sung at his brief and simple funeral service at the Edwards Congregational Church in Northampton last Saturday.

I HAVE A RENDEZVOUS WITH LIFE

I have a rendezvous with Life,
In days I hope will come,
Ere youth has sped, and strength of mind,

Ere voices sweet grow dumb.
I lay in dust life's glory dead,
And from the ground there blossoms red,

I have a rendezvous with Life,
When Spring's first heralds hum,
Sure some would cry it's better far
To crown their days with sleep

Than face the road, the wind and rain,
Yet fear I deeply, too,

Lest Death should meet and claim me

I keep Life's rendezvous.

By Countee Cullen.

Mr. Cullen wrote this poem when a student at the DeWitt Clinton High School, N. Y. It received one of the two prizes offered by a High School Poetry Society of New York for the best poem submitted by a high school pupil.

It is an answer to Alan Seeger's poem entitled, "I Have a Rendezvous With Death."

WORK: SONG OF TRIUMPH

Work!
Thank God for the might of it,
The ardor, the urge, the delight of it—

Work that springs from the heart's desire,
Setting the brain and the soul on fire—

Oh, what is so good as the heat of it,
And what is so glad as the beat of it—

And what is so kind as the stern command,
Challenging brain and heart and hand?

Work!
Thank God for the pride of it,
For the beautiful, conquering tide of it—

Sweeping the life in its furious flood,
Thrilling the arteries, cleansing the blood,

Mastering stupor and dull despair,
Moving the dreamer to do and dare.

Oh, what is so good as the urge of it,
Something of his granite rocks and hills.

Like a remembered chord of music strong and sweet
Though his heart and voice remain forever still.

DORIS HILDRETH WHEELER.
Winchester, N. H.

And what is so glad as the surge of it,
And what is so strong as the summons deep,
Rousing the torpid soul from sleep?

Work!
Thank God for the pace of it,
For the terrible, keen, swift race of it;

Fiercely in full control,
Nostrils quiver to greet the goal.
Work the Power that drives behind

Guiding the purposes, taming the mind.
Holding the runaway wishes back,
Reining the will to one steady track,

Speeding the energies faster,
Triumphing over disaster.
Oh, what is so good as the pain of it?

And what is so great as the gain of it?
And what is so kind as the cruel goad,
Forcing us on through the rugged road?

Work!
Thank God for the swing of it,
For the clattering, hammering ring of it,
Passion of labor daily hurried

On the mighty anvils of the world.
Oh, what is so fierce as the flame of it?
And what is so huge as the aim of it?

Thundering on through dearth and doubt,
Calling the plan of the Maker out.
Work, the Titan; Work, the Friend,

Shaping the earth to a glorious end.
Draining the swamps and blasting hills,

Doing whatever the Spirit wills—
Rending a continent apart,
To answer the dream of the Master heart.

Thank God for a world where none may shirk—
Thank God for the splendor of work!

A Bit Of History

A Tradition Remembered

A tradition that I understand has not been recorded in the History of Northfield was told to me when I was a boy, it being part of the history of our family. My grandfather, Dr. Cyrus Washburn of Vernon, married as his second wife Rhoda Field, of the same Field family that has been in Northfield from earliest times. The story, as I heard it, ran like this: One of the Fields, whose name in full I do not recall, except that it was a Bible name, was out in the meadow hoeing corn. The Indians at that time were capturing settlers, taking them to Canada and holding them for ransom. A party of three of the savages had come secretly to the Northfield meadows and seeing young Field at work decided to capture him. There is an "island," a rocky bit of land higher than the surrounding meadow at the spot and one of the Indians concealed himself in the bushes there, another hid himself on the river side of the meadow and a third came as near to the Fort as was best suited to his purpose. Field either had no gun or weapon or had left his defensive arm at the side of the cornfield. He saw the first Indian coming rapidly toward him, tomahawk in hand and started for the Fort. The Indian, knowing he would have help, spurred to as speed. The Indian on the rocky "island" ran out at the two came near but Field dodged and, with the Indian freshly joining the chase, close behind him, went on toward the town. The second Indian having spurred as to speed the third Indian joined the chase, fresh from his resting place. As they neared the Fort, Field saw that the sentry was asleep, his musket resting against his knees. He heard the Indian who had just joined the chase gasping behind and the savage's triumphant exclamation: "Me—got you—this time!"

The door of the fort was high, eight feet as I remember the story, and it seemed that there was no chance for Field to escape death or capture. Masons In Service
By Grand Chaplain

Many Masons in Western Massachusetts gathered in Springfield recently to attend a Masonic service at the Episcopal Cathedral at which time both Very Rev. Percy T. Edrop, Dean of Christ Church E. Mott, Archdeacon of the diocese of Western Massachusetts, both Grand Chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Massachusetts conducted the special ceremony. Among those present was Grand Master of Massachusetts Masons Curtis Chipman.

The customary order of service was followed, with the archdeacon in the chancel. The address was given by the dean, who outlined his conception of the duties of Chaplain. He said: "My task as a Grand Chaplain is not alone to conduct the devotions within a lodge; but, so I am informed by our installation ritual, to allure to higher things."

Edrop's address, in part, was as follows:

"In the Masonic Order we have a wealth of symbols. To some who enter the tiled doors of our craft, there are things that are seen as the degrees are unfolded—and nothing more. They are just more of the many names to be learned in case someone asks us what we behold in our travels. I count it one of the duties, then, of him who would allure you to brighter things to act as a sort of interpreter, and on such an occasion as this, to make you feel as if you were in the interpreter's house. High School Notes

The High School Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Richard Farrell of Florence, played several selections at the meeting of the Fortnightly at the Town Hall last Friday night. The program opened with a march, "First Assembly," followed by a waltz, "Morning Flowers," concluded with three numbers by the orchestra: a waltz, "Autumn Days," "Old English Country Dance," and a march, "Imperial."

Miss Austin has been absent from school two days on account of illness.

Last Thursday morning Harold Briesmaster gave a talk on Current Events during assembly. The following morning Natalie Briesmaster spoke about two of her experiences with fires.

Robert Gregory, a pupil in the high school for several weeks, has gone to Sunnyside, Long Island, where he will attend school.

Another Week's Toll Of Automobile Deaths

Massachusetts records eighteen deaths by automobiles last week ending the 6th.

Of the eighteen killed 13 were adults and three were children; 14 were pedestrians, three were occupants of cars, and one was a bicyclist rider; and only municipal Boston, with five deaths, had more than one fatality, including only Southwick in Western Massachusetts. Registrar Ryan says of the record:

"The outstanding features of these accidents is the unusual number of pedestrians who lost their lives while walking along country roads. Five men were killed last week while so doing, and the fault cannot be all theirs. Inattentive speeding motorists, not looking where they are going, and perhaps with dirty windshields and inadequate headlights, are mostly to blame for these killings."

"The first death of this year of a bicyclist ran down by a truck, the drowning of a young man due to high speed on a down-grade curve, and striking pedestrians crossing the street complete the fatality list for the week."

Robert L. Devine, department of motor vehicles registry inspector in charge of motor vehicle equipment, has drawn up five rules for motorists, which are made public in this week's report of Registrar Morgan T. Ryan, as guides to safety in night-driving. They are: 1. Keep your own headlights in good condition. 2. Keep your windshield scrupulously clean. 3. Draw down the rear window curtain. 4. Never look directly at lights of approaching cars. Look at the road directly ahead. 5. Where streets are adequately lighted, and you have tilting-beam headlamps, use the lower beam only."

1933 Fair Plans

Agricultural fairs of Massachusetts launched a progressive and aggressive program for 1933 at the 18th annual convention of the Massachusetts Agricultural Fairs Association in Salem this week with emphasis on agricultural essentials designed to meet present day needs.

The entire two day session was built up around constructive plans for the forthcoming show season and it is the basic elements of the modern agricultural exhibit that will receive the major attention of fair men gathered from all parts of the Bay State to discuss their common problems.

In comparison with other sections of the country, 1932 was a successful year for Massachusetts fairs. Profiting by their experiences, fair managers and committees have been at work already preparing for 1933, and in the reports and discussions of their annual convention, it was decided to strengthen departments and divisions catering to reawakened public interest in general agriculture and its by-products.

President Ralph H. Gaskill of Topsham presided and among the several speakers was Mr. John W. Haig of Greenfield. The annual dinner was Wednesday.

The two-day program was arranged by A. W. Lombard of the State Department of Agriculture and Secretary of the Massachusetts Agricultural Fairs Association.

Noted Authority Will Talk About Poultry

An educational meeting of special interest to poultry raisers, and to which the public is invited, will be held Friday Jan. 20 at the courthouse in Greenfield at 7:45 P. M. It has been announced that Prof. Walter B. Krueck, formerly of Purdue University, has been selected as the speaker and will discuss poultry production problems of timely interest to everyone. Prof. Krueck is widely known as an authority on nutrition and is a very forceful speaker with a real message.

PROF. W. B. KRUECK

This meeting is being sponsored by Franklin County Extension Service and Vocational Agricultural Department, Academies of Ashfield and Shelburne Falls.

Prof. Krueck was born and reared on a farm in Milwaukee County, Wis. He has had extensive experience in managing and operating successfully a large stock farm and he thoroughly understands exhibiting, feeding and breeding of livestock and poultry. He graduated from the University of Wisconsin and taught animal husbandry and did extension work at Purdue University, Ind., for four years. Prof. Krueck also had three years of experience as agent in Tippecanoe, Ind.

During the time Prof. Krueck was doing country work, the boys and girls in his county under his direction won more state fair premiums than any other county in the state.

With his background of practical farming experience, and scientific agricultural knowledge, he fully appreciates farmers problems and is well qualified to give sound, practical, helpful information.

Since 1927, Prof. Krueck has conducted extensive educational meetings in 27 different states, and he has become widely known for his interesting lectures on many different agricultural subjects. He also writes a great many articles for the press and answers thousands of letters from feeders, who write and ask for his help on their poultry and livestock problems.

The art work of Radio City Music Hall has been executed entirely under the direction of Donald Deskey, the celebrated young interior decorator. He was assisted by a corps of American artists, each striving his best to make his work truly representative of the planned conception of Radio City.

Mr. Deskey himself designed the Seam-Loc rug which is a feature of the ladies' powder room. The room is fourteen sided, having side walls and ceiling entirely of glass.

Mirrors are mounted on each of the fourteen side walls. These mirrors were ingeniously utilized by Mr. Deskey in designing the rug which is two-toned, the background being a soft Music blue and the design being a powder blue. The rug in its odd shape carries a plain 15-inch banded border, next comes a few

Famous Missionary Sir Wilfred Grenfell Secured By Hermon

Sir Wilfred Grenfell, the renowned Medical Missionary to Labrador, will be the commencement speaker for the Class of '33 of Mount Hermon School at the graduation on Monday June 12th according to an announcement made public last Saturday. Mount Hermon students and their guests will enjoy a great honor in hearing this distinguished man who has been knighted by the King of England in appreciation of his work as explorer, physician, missionary and writer in his magnificent undertaking in Labrador.

Dr. Grenfell has founded a chain of hospitals and hospital ships; he has built seamen's homes and children's orphanages; he runs co-operative stores and trading posts to encourage the native industries; he provides libraries and schools for the small settlements on the coasts of Labrador and northern Newfoundland.

Dr. Grenfell's great work resulted from his contact with Dwight L. Moody. When a young medical student, he wandered into the rear of a hall in London where D. L. Moody was to speak. A minister was making a very lengthy prayer. Disgusted, young Grenfell rose and started to leave. While the minister was still praying, Mr. Moody on the platform rose and said, "Friends, while our brother is finishing his prayer, let us all sing hymn 238." Grenfell stayed to hear Moody's words, was converted, and as a result went to Labrador, where his wonderful effort met with success and of which most of us are familiar. Sir and Lady Grenfell were visitors to Northfield last year and were guests at the Northfield Hotel where many were privileged to greet them.

Mt. Hermon Items

Both Senior and Junior classes elected a President of their classes last week. Tom Kay of Fitchburg, was re-elected President of the Senior class for the rest of the school year and he becomes thereby the President of the student council. Edwin P. Thompson of Westerly, R. I., was re-elected President of the Junior class.

Term examinations took place during the past week ending today Friday January 27. Registration for the final term takes place Saturday.

The students will enjoy this Friday evening in Camp Hall when Sue Hastings' Marionettes will entertain them. Saturday evening a movie "Congo" will be shown in Camp Hall.

Dear Luther A. Weigle of Yale School of Religion, and a trustee of the Northfield Schools was the speaker last Sunday at both morning and evening services at Memorial Chapel.

Last Thursday at Mount Hermon School, Mr. Thomas G. Harrison of New York addressed the students on friendly relationships with the youth of Japan. It is the purpose of a student movement in America to raise funds from students themselves to pay for the education of Japanese young men in America for the purpose of sponsoring friendship and cementing these relationships in the bonds of peace.

Mrs. Carroll Riker was hostess to the Hermon Women's Missionary Society last Thursday afternoon when Rev. Lester P. White was one of the speakers. Mrs. Arthur Platt the President presided. There was a good attendance.

The Eastern Star Installation Of Officers Is Brilliant Affair

A most colorful gathering was present last Friday evening at Masonic Temple on Parker Street when the officers of Northfield Chapter Order of the Eastern Star were publicly inducted into their positions and installed. The hall was crowded to capacity with members and guests and a large number came from the various chapters of surrounding towns. The installing officers were Blanch L. Pearson of Longmeadow, Associate Grand Matron of the Grand Chapter with Florine B. Streeter also of Longmeadow, Deputy Grand Marshall who served as the Marshall of the ceremonies. Theodore F. Darby was Past Patron and Mrs. Eliza Pearson was Chaplain. The following were the officers installed:

A court of honor for Franklin district will be held at the Deerfield academy gymnasium Friday evening, Feb. 24 promptly at 7:30.

This is a special privilege secured for the scouts by Judge Philip H. Ball, chairman of the court of honor committee, and he is desirous that every troop be represented, also as many scout officials and parents as possible.

All applications for merit badges and the names of scouts receiving tenderfoot, second class, first class, or higher rank must be mailed to Scout Headquarters 33 Gothic St., Northampton, not later than Feb. 20. This ruling is made to assist the court of honor officials and absolutely no applications will be accepted after that date.

An anniversary week comes Feb. 8 to 14. Scout Sunday will be observed on Feb. 12. All troops are urged to attend church in a body.

Special parent's night meetings will be held during the week.

An all-scout winter carnival for Franklin district will be held either during Anniversary week or the week following. The place has not been decided upon as yet although there are two possible places suggested, Greenfield and Millers Falls. The camp at the so-called

Was He "Rolled"

Adam Greboski of East Northfield complained to Officer Omer Lamirande in Holyoke about 3:30 o'clock last Monday morning that he had been "rolled" by two young men.

He told rather conflicting stories fixing the sum at different amounts. The officer looked up the two young men who told an entirely different story. No arrests were made.

Adoption Granted

At a Probate Court holding at Greenfield January 17, 1933, Francis N. Thompson, Judge of Probate Court granted the petition of Francis Warren Whitman of Northfield to adopt Louise G. Cover and change said child's name to Louise Bartlett Whitman.

His friends are glad to know of this honor and wish him success. He takes the position February 5th.

County Commissioners Increase County Budget Taxpayers Must Pay

The County Commissioners consisting of Messrs. Burnham, Avery and Gerratt have prepared a tentative draft of the County budget for 1933 and it calls for a tax levy of $205,729.86 this year, an increase of $20,243.59 over the levy for last year. The total of estimated expenditures this year is $242,984.24 but cash on hand and estimated receipts amounting to $87,254.88 will reduce that amount to $205,729.86. The tax levy of 1932 was $184,485.77 while the expenditures were $224,002.49.

Should the budget be adopted as filed, the various towns of the county would have to pay an increase of about 11 per cent over the tax levy of 1932. Before its adoption, however, the budget will be examined by the state director of accounts and will then be referred to the legislative committee on counties which will hold a hearing at which the commissioners will appear.

Northfield's taxpayers will have the privilege of paying about eleven per cent more than last year toward the county tax and this in a year of depression and difficulties when the County Commissioners should have seen to it that economies prevailed and a lower tax rate was assured.

Analysis of the budget shows the greatest increase in the items of reduction of debt, which is $13,000 more than last year. This is due to the emergency loan made this winter to take care of the repairs at the house of correction. This loan matures early in the summer. The item for care of county buildings, fuel and light, etc., calls for a somewhat increased expenditure this year and the item of reserve for transfer only is larger than the expenditure for 1932.

The budget is as follows:

	Estimated Expenses 1933	Exp. 1932
Interest on debt	$20,861.88	$20,261

Found Helpless On Floor Of Home

Mr. Walter Brigham a resident of Main street in East Northfield opposite the Congregational church was discovered last Tuesday morning lying on the floor in his kitchen in a helpless condition. Mr. Thomas Russell who delivered the milk regularly each morning had noticed that the milk of the previous day had not been removed and after knocking with no reply looked into the window and saw Mr. Brigham lying on the floor. He summoned Dr. A. H. Wright and the neighbors and it was discovered upon entering that Mr. Brigham had suffered a shock and had been helpless on the floor for sometime and over night. Clad only in his night clothes he had gone to the kitchen for a drink when the attack overcame him. With the assistance of Earl Makepeace W. A. Wright and Charles Johnson, Mr. Brigham was picked up by Dr. Wright and immediately removed to Franklin County Hospital. His condition is serious. His brother, Albert S. Brigham, Dorchester, Mass., came with Mrs. Brigham Tuesday evening and will remain for a few days to close the house.

There will be illustrations of 16th century madrigals by English Flemish, and Italian composers and pieces for the flute transcribed for the piano by Ottorino Respighi. The musicals are open to the public.

P. T. A. To Gather

The regular February meeting of the Northfield Parent-Teacher Association will be held on January 30th at the home of Mrs. Joseph Field, at 7:45 P. M. The date is advanced a week in order to avoid conflict with town meeting.

South Church Notes

Continuing the subject presented last Sunday, Rev. Mrs. Conner will speak this Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock on "Denominationalism Going."

In the evening at 7:30 o'clock in the vestry will be shown the slide pictures and the story of telling drama "Sorrell and Son." A silver offering will be asked to defray the expense of renting the slides.

Fiddlers Are Coming

It has leaked out that the "Old Gang" is making arrangements for the third annual old folks' dance with Ernest Putnam's old time fiddlers to be given for the benefit of the Senior Class of the Northfield High School in the Town Hall on February 22.

A surprise party was given Miss Jenkins' last Friday night.

Games were played and refreshments served. Guests were from G. H. Greenfield, Leyden and Berwick.

EDITORIAL

The noble experiment of prohibition has been tried for thirteen years and the anniversary of its adoption was observed on Sunday January 16th. Its advocates are still loyal to its principles and it remains as a leading national issue. There are many advantages to be claimed for prohibition and it is greatly to be desired for personal moral and economic success but, the question is yet debatable if one can successfully legislate morals into a personal life.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler President of Columbia College is quite outspoken in his pessimistic view of the future unless the United States does something immediately to prevent the lingering of the gravest world crisis in history. He points the way however to recovery and stability by taking a position in world leadership.

As specific remedies he urged disarmament, removal of barriers to international trade through the coming economic conference; reconsideration of war-debt problems, ratification of the World-court protocol, and greater cooperation with the League of Nations.

Dr. Butler's vision is devoid of politics and he sees the situation from the standpoint of an American citizen as we should see it too. But what will we do about it—our politicians in Washington are so busy fighting and talking for selfish purposes and wrangling to gain partisan advantage that they have forgotten there is the problem of the "forgotten man" and depressed nation. With the Democrats in power they have failed to show ability to aid.

Commissioner Henry F. Long of the state department of corporations and taxation on Tuesday released a startling set of figures disclosed through his statistical studies of the 1932 income tax returns, showing that the income of citizens of Massachusetts which is subject to income taxation fell from $971,960,079 in 1930 to $496,286,252 in 1932. This represents a decrease of $475,723,827 during the two-year period in the net earnings of persons who in 1930 were listed as subject to the provisions of the income tax law.

Commissioner Long's figures furnish one of the most striking illustrations of the effect of the depression on the taxable resources of the various municipal governments. The loss amounts to about $670,000 for every day of the period covered by Mr. Long's investigation.

As a result, the distribution of the income tax receipts which go entirely to the cities and towns of the commonwealth, have been reduced by about $15,000,000. In 1931 the income subject to taxation amounted to $644,676,989.

About 75 per cent of the total income tax paid is represented by taxable interest and dividends according to Commissioner Long, but the shrinkage in this source is illustrated when it is considered that the taxable amount dropped from $266,074,643 in 1930 and $265,299,233 in 1931 to $221,839,829 in 1932, all of which was taxable at 6 per cent.

And in the face of all this, some people are foolish enough to think that the state, cities and towns can go on spending money for all sorts of fancied needs and yet maintain a low tax rate. It can't be done. There will be less money from the state this year than ever before and Northfield as well as other towns must exercise caution in voting expenditures at its town meeting.

Marionettes Coming In Seminary Course

Sue Hastings Marionettes, those versatile little wooden actors, which each year play a special holiday engagement under the auspices of the Theater Guild in New York, are to offer a program in Silverthorne Hall at Northfield Seminary the evening of Saturday, January 28. They will present A. A. Milne's "Winnie-the-Pooh" followed by the Puppet Revue.

A. A. Milne didn't write Christopher Robin to be a marionette. But he might have. He wasn't thinking of puppets and puppet shows when he gave to Christopher his animal playmates Eeyore, Piglet and Pooh Bear. Yet so perfectly do they fit into Sue Hastings' marionette "family" that it seems as if they could never have belonged to any other world at all. Could any one let slip an opportunity to see Winnie-the-Pooh sail off on the end of a balloon, hunting for honey, or Christopher striving to distract the attention of the bees from the bear?

It isn't surprising that these most natural of child creatures should find themselves entirely adaptable to this oldest of arts. There is something about puppets and puppet shows that has pleased and satisfied man from as long ago as the days of Cleopatra and Helen of Troy. The comedies and tragedies of ancient Greece, the folk-tales of early Rome and Egypt, and Bible stories of the Christian church were all given to the people through the complicated art of marionette presentation. For these dolls with their many strings take years of training and peculiar skill to handle successfully. The effect is as simple as is the adequate expression of any art, and the performance as difficult. Yet there is a delicate irony in their life-likeness, a power of pantomime in their attitudes that delighted child and grown-up equally.

About 75 places will be available for townspersons at 35c.

Pope Announces

Year Of Prayer

The announcement that Pope Pius XI has designated the year beginning April 2nd as a holy year is of much interest to the Catholic Church everywhere. The year is the 19th centenary of the passion of Christ and he calls for a year of prayer, fasting and humility in remembrance of the Crucifixion and death of the Christ for the salvation of men. He calls upon the church to turn its mind "from earthly and decaying things" but only for those of the church, but for "all mankind led astray by many discords and hostilities, laboring under so many miseries and fearful of so many dangers."

The Sunday morning choir will be the guests of the Misses Handy and Cook at a social at Crane Cottage next Monday evening. Several names were brought forward of persons to be invited to join with the choir.

Dont' Get Up Nights
Make this 25c Test

You need a bladder physic to drive out impurities and excessive acids that cause irritation, burning and frequent desire. Get a 25c test box of BUKETS, the bladder physic, from any drug store. After four days if not relieved of getting up nights go back and get your money. BUKETS, containing buchu leaves, juniper oil, etc., acts on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. If you are bothered with backache, or leg pains arising from bladder disorders you are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep.

Harry L. Gingras, Druggist says BUKETS is a best seller. —Adv.
